Planning Georgia's Energy Future

Commissioner Tim Echols, Public Service Commission

Commissioner Tim Echols set a goal to become a statewide elected official from a young age and after building a national non-profit organization, Echols ran for and was elected to statewide office in 2010 serving as Public Service Commissioner. At the Public Service Commission, Echols' primary job is energy regulation.

Echols has owned 3 electric vehicles, put solar thermal on his Athens home, and helped set policy that has resulted in Georgia reaching the top 10 in solar deployment on the grid. Echols is a clean energy expert and serves on the statewide elected Public Service Commission. He also hosts the radio show Energy Matters on the Cox Media Group.

Recognizing that ultimately his job is about helping plan Georgia's energy future, Echols will discuss Georgia's energy planning goals for the next 3 years.
